The Senate Laid the Nomination of the Former on the Table.

A Lively Debate Before That Action Was Taken-Adverse Report on Mr. Sands.

The Senate went into executive session yesterday at 4:30 o'clock, and spent half an how in a partisan debate over the nominat & of Henry E. Davis to be United States attorney for the District of Columbia. Senator Pugh moved to lay the nomination on the table, which was carried by a vote of 41 to 17, many republicans joining with the silver democrats by voting in the affirmative. This action was regarded as disposing of Mr. Davis' nomination, and defeating any hope he might have for con-

Senator Hill spoke in support of Mr. Davis. His speech was principally devoted to an attack upon the democrats who were opposing the appointment. These democrats were opposing Mr. Davis, Senator Hill said, simply because he had expressed his honest views. He paid special attention to Senators Gorman and Faulkner in his speech, referring to them as the leaders Senators Gorman and Faulkner in his speech, referring to them as the leaders of the faction who are antagonistic to Mr. Davis. This speech called Senator Gorman to his feet, and he replied to Senator Hill in a forcible vein. LATEST BASE BALL DEAL

Two local sparrers fared badly at the meeting at the Spa Athletic Club near Highlands last night. Arthur Jones lost to Temmy Callahan of Philadelphia in a foul in the fifth round. Jones was repeatedly cautioned against striking in a clinch, but seemed unable to refrain in his-excitement, and consequently lost the fight. Although Callahan had the best of the contest on points, Jones would probably have won had it gone to a finish. The principal bout of the evening was between Jack Juth, said to be Martin Judge of Philadelphia, and Howard Wilson, the local light weight champion. Juth proved to be much the better man, and won easily in the tenth round. He outclassed the local man in strength and skill and pounded him hard and often, and finally knocked him out completely. Both fights were fast and exciting, and aroused considerable enthusiasm among the spectators. There were many Philadelphians in attendance.

Mark Baldwin Wins Again.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 2.-A new trial in the damage suit of Mark Baldwin, the base ball pitcher, against Christ Von der Ahe was refused yesterday. The verdict was $2,525 for the plaintiff on the second trial, When the case was first tried Baldwin was awarded $2,500. The action was win was awarded $2,500. The action was for damages for false arrest. Von der Ahe had Baldwin arrested in St. Louis on a charge of conspiring to get "Silver" King, the base ball man, to leave the St. Louis

Mr. Lehman, when he went across, had in his pocket the plans and dimensions of a boat just suited for the Crimson crew. Clasper of Putney-on-the-Thames has built the boat. It will be sent over on the steamer with Mr. Lehman when he sails for this country this week. Mr. Lehman is expected at Harvard about March 12.

The Philadelphia Club.

Manager Stallings has announced the make-up of the Philadelphia base ball team for the season of 1897. It is as follows: Catchers, Clements, Cross, Boyle, Grady; pitchers, Taylor, Orth, Carsey, Fifield, Wheeler, Brandt, Johnson; first base, field, Wheeler, Brandt, Johnson; first base, La Joie; second base, Hallman; short stops, Geier, Gillen; third base, Nash; outfielders, Delehanty, Thompson, Cooley, Harley, Nash will captain the team again. Stall-ings is looking for a short stop. Cross will be used behind the bar regularly or utilized in a deal.

Bierbauer Sold to St. Louis. Before leaving Baltimore recently Manager Donovan of the Pittsburg club released Bierbauer to St. Louis, in consideration of $1,500. Donovan was willing to give up Bierbauer for McFarland, but Manager Dowd declined the offer.

A Blow at Pool Selling. The California supreme court has sustained the recently adopted civic ordinance prohibiting pool selling and taking commissions on racing bets. The conviction of John Glynn, a local pool seller, fined $100 in the police court, under the civic ordinance, was affirmed.

Esper to Play With St. Louis.

Charlie Esper will sign with St. Louis for the coming season. Chris Von Der Ahe asserted that he had never waived his claim to Esper's services, and Manager Hanlon released the big left-hander to St. Louis. Tommy Dowd went to Philadelphia last night to close the contract.

Hanlon had already received Connie Mack's check on behalf of the Milwaukee team for Esper, but this is now off, as the priority of the St. Louis claim was established.

The Pittsburg Tournament.

The short-stop billiard tournament which was in progress in Pittsburg during the past week has created much interest among lovers of the cue. The games thus far played give the advantage to Catton, he having beaten Gallagher in the only match he played, while all the other contestants have lost at least one game. McLaughlin lost the first match to Magglioli and then defeated Spinks, who had beaten Sutton previously. Sutton beat Magglioli, and so did Gallagher. This makes Magglioli the under man in the list, with the others all tie. The scores of the games as played were:

Local Notes of General and Especial Interest to All Concerned.

Evening Star Bureau, No. 121 North Washington street, Alexandria, Va., March 2, 1897. As predicted exclusively in The Star, Sec ond Lieut. Albert Bryan was last night unanimously elected captain of the Alexandria Light Infantry, Company F, 3d

Regiment Virginia Volunteers, and First Sergt. Leonard Marbury was elected first lieutenant by unanimous vote. The name of Lieut. Bryan was the only one put in nomination for the captaincy. Sergt. Marbury, who made the nomination, referred to the fact that Lieut. Bryan had enlisted in the company as a private, July 30, 1878, and had risen through the various posi tions to the office of second lieutenant. He referred to the lieutenant as a gentleman of the highest standing, a soldier and thorough tactician, and an officer who has always had the best interests of the company at heart, "and," said Sergt. Marbury, "I believe Lieut. Bryan is the right man for the place, and the best interests of the compary will be furthered by his election." A committee of three was appointed to wait on Lieut. Bryan and notify him of his election to the captaincy. Capt. Bryan said: "Gentlemen, I know it is customary for one elected to say it is a surprise, but this would not be true in my case, for the action of the company has been intimated to me. I am not a speaker, but I do want to say this much-I appreciate the high honor you have conferred upon me, I feel it the greatest honor to be elected captain of the Alexandria Light Infantry, and I want to add that as captain of the company I expect to command it. When we meet in the street we are equal in every respect, but when we enter the armory in uniform it is different, and I shall expec and demand to be treated as your commanding officer. It is the greatest compliment of my life to be elected captain of a company that is excelled by none in the state and equaled by few-again, gentlemen, I thank you."

The election of Capt. Bryan gives general The election of Capt. Bryan gives general satisfaction, not alone to the members of the company, but to the community at large, who take a great deal of interest in the organization, and it is believed that the company will shortly resume its old-time position at the head of the state mi-litia. The election of Sergt. Marbury to succeed First Lieut. Monroe is a deserved promotion, and Lieut. Marbury will be an able assistant to Capt. Bryan. Much to the surprise of all who had assembled, no election of second lieutenant could be had. There was a deadlock for nineteen ballots, and an adjournment had to be taken until next Monday night at 8 o'clock. There were four candidates in the field—Sergt. Atkinson, Corp. J. J. Green, Corp. Robinson and Private Ballenger. Sergt. Atkinson was the choice of the majority present at the meeting, but at no time could either of the candidates receive the required number (forty votes) to elect, and they sees wed for pipeteen believe and they seesawed for nineteen ballots. The President's Mother.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:

On Saturday I noticed in your news columns the expression "Mother McKinley," referring to the mother of Major McKinley. I wish to protest against the use of this term to the lady in question. It grated much on many ladies when used regarding the elder Mrs. Garfield. It is a term only used in Ergland by the lower classes; in literature it is associated with Mother Goose and Mother Hubbard. The term dowager as used in England by the upper classes has never obtained favor here. It is often said: "Why are not the convenient is often said: "Why are not the convenient terms senior and juntor applied to the names of laddes?" It is because no one begins. Here is a good time to begin. Let the President's mother be called Mrs. Mc-Kinley, sr., or let the style be President and Mrs. McKinley, the President's mother, and then the McKinley family by their husbands' first names. Don't give us four years of "Mother" and "Grandmother" McKinley. This lady has a right to her own individuality, and for our own sakes we should wish to preserve her dignity. How would Madam McKinley do? This would take us back to colonial days.
